Dames Game Night

At Shower Diva Central we love any excuse to get together with girlfriends for a little party – especially if there will be good food and Preggatini's™. So, when Kerri and Patti, the real-life sisters from Sisters 2 Inc. sent us their premiere game What's a DAME to Do? to review for TheShowerDiva.com, we immediately whipped out our appointment calendars and set a date!

I wish you all could have been there! We had so much fun!

Lura, our Communications Diva, forbid me to work too hard at assembling the refreshments. So I was sent over to our local upscale market to talk to the deli concierge—a brilliant idea since this was supposed to be a relaxing night of fun for everyone, including yours truly.

Do you know about the deli concierge? He or she is your best friend when you're planning a get-together. The deli concierge knows all the best fancy cheeses in stock, which ones are only available in your area because they are grown at local organic farms, and which crackers, olives, cold cuts and other delectables will turn your buffet table into a gourmet feast. Upon arriving home from the market fresh as a daisy, you simply set everything out on pretty plates, mix up some refreshing beverages, and you're ready to hostess.

Since I am a huge fan of Natalie Bovis-Nelson, "The Liquid Muse" who invented Peggatinis™, I mixed up a pitcher of Yankee Doodle Candy Cocktails, non-alcoholic cocktails that feature Pop Rocks – this is why I love Natalie and Peggatinis's™! By the way, Natalie now has a brand new website (or two, or three...) so be sure to pop on over and join her mailing list for the latest "museletter" and download her free recipes. Or, better yet, get her beautifully designed popular recipe book! It makes a great hostess gift too if you know anyone who is giving a baby shower!

For dessert, I put together a gorgeous buffet of chocolate wafers, white chocolate mint starfish cookies and colorful chocolate candy-coated sunflower seeds. It was almost too pretty to eat, but after a bit of ooo-ing and ahh-ing, we managed.

We chatted, we noshed, we set up the What's a DAME to Do? beautifully designed board. Suddenly, the girl talk was on! A few highlights:

- We kept mixing up the cards when it was time to score each round. Angela, our "Goddess Next Door Diva" suggested new players "practice sober and drink later" if What's a DAME to Do? is featured at a Bachelorette Party.

- One particular dilemma inspired Suzy from BadaBadaBingo and Communications Diva Lura to start a round of "What's the smoothest line a man has ever used on you?" Which of course led to a round of "What's the worst line a man has ever used on you?" What's a DAME to Do? is like that. Once you've debated whether or not you'd use the men's room if the ladies was too full, all kinds of topics are raised.

- Online Diva Clare got the most hilarious dilemma: if you're on public transportation and your feminine hygiene products fall out of your purse, What's a DAME to Do? One of the possible responses was "Shout a Warning." We all started making up hilarious warnings and things got

• It turns out Diva Alum Jenny knows Susan "The Shower Diva" all too well. She knew exactly what I would do on every dilemma! That's what happens when you work together with some for a few years.
